

MRS. FREDERICK FEARING is among the Philadelphia society folk who spend much time on the tennis courts at Bar Harbor, Maine.

INSTRUCTIONS FROM THE REFEREE. Miss Katherine Porter (left) and Miss Virginia Carpenter, both of Philadelphia, following a practice set on the courts at Bar Harbor, Maine.

HOW DO YOU LIKE THE PARASOL HAT? It's the latest craze at Deauville, France. It aids in avoiding sunburn.

SIGNALMAN RAYMOND TITUS spends a lot of time telling Nicholas and Alexander Libidoff, Russian refugees, about the guns on the U. S. destroyer Williamson.

TWO NORRISTOWN HIKERS on personally conducted tour of City Hall tower. Charles Kellett, superintendent of elevators, is the guide. Mary White (left) and Miriam Aker are the travelers.

HURRIED HOME TO HELP IN RAILROAD STRIKE SETTLEMENT. Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, arriving in New York on the S. S. Majestic.

HER MORNING EXERCISE —afternoon, too. Anna Fitzmaurice, the opera star, likes bike riding.

ADELAIDE ROBINSON spends much time on the giant swings at a West Philadelphia playground.

HOPE FOR A UNITED CHINA. President Li Yuan-Hung (left) willing to resign in favor of Sun Yat Sen if Parliament approves such action.

PEEP AT THE DOGS. There are two in the vanity case, carefully held by Lillian Gish, the movie star.

JOSEPH C. GREW, American Minister to Switzerland, returns to his post after vacation.

OLDEST AND YOUNGEST. They're both dancing instructors. Major E. B. Gaynor and Miss Violet Reinwald are attending national convention of Dancing Masters in New York.

FOURTH AVENUE BEACH PATROL, NORTH WILDWOOD. Left to right: John Powell, Captain Hugh Clark and James Taylor, who have an enviable record in safeguarding the bathers.

A CONVALESCING PATIENT. Miss Virginia Pearson was very glad to give the sick member of the Zoo family a ride in the "State Coach."

NOT A THOUGHT OF SCHOOL DAYS. Patrick Walsh as he fished yesterday afternoon at the Fairmount Dam on the Schuylkill.

WALNUT STREET IS TORN UP. The Philadelphia Electric Company is placing cables along that thoroughfare between Ninth and Eleventh streets. The view at the left shows the south side of Walnut street. Pedestrians are forced to make a detour into Hutchinson street. The two persons at the right are shown in Hutchinson street.

THE MADISON GRAMMAR SCHOOL, of Newmarket street above Noble, as it looked in 1875. C. Jess Young, 3409 North Sixteenth street, is the contributor. Send your old Philadelphia views to us.

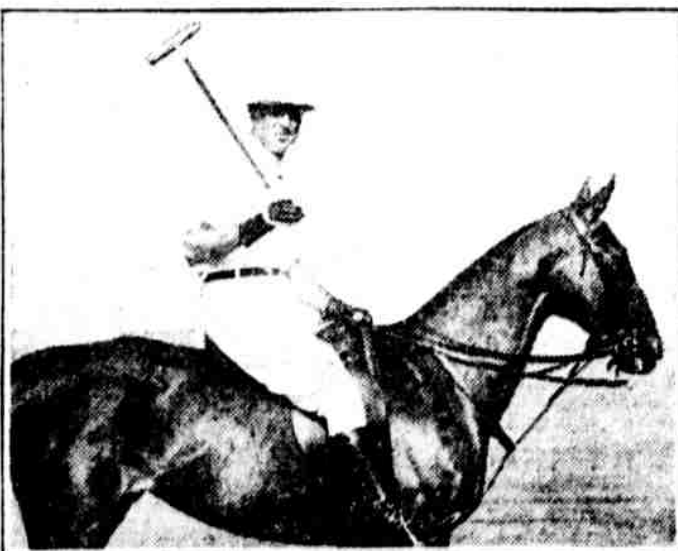

"BO-PEEP" WENT HOME—FIRST. This English horse was ridden to victory by Miss Margaret Stringer at Chertsey, England.

A COMBINATION DIVE. Teddy Ulrich tosses Irma Davis in the air so she can make a straight dive into the pool at the outing camp of the Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia at Downingtown.

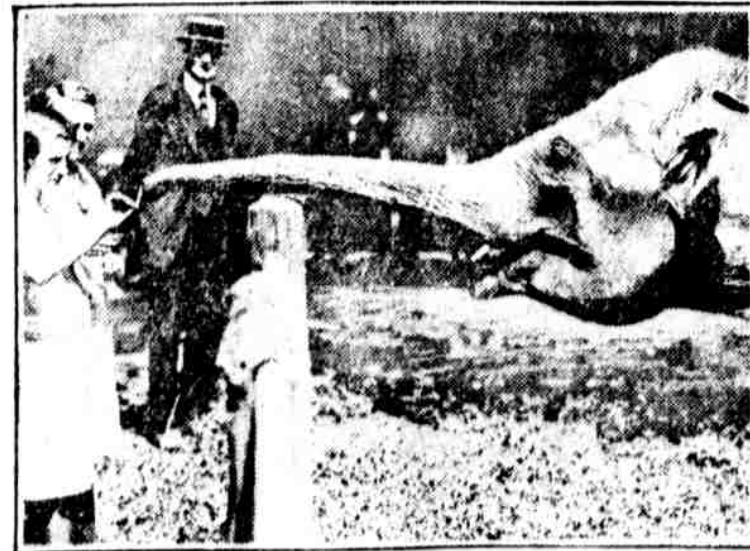

SENATOR JOHN W. HARREL, of Oklahoma City, having busy time in Washington.

HE'LL BE HERE SOON. Louis E. Stoddard will captain the Shelburne polo team at the Philadelphia Country Club during international tourney in September.

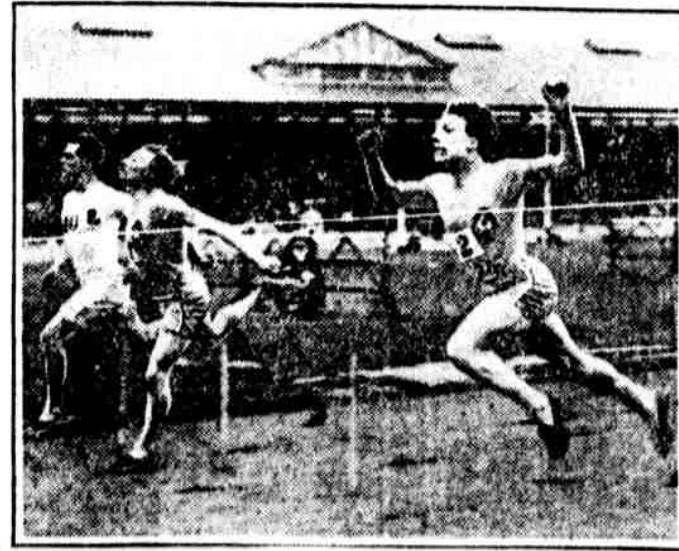

R. V. KUSER, president of the Trenton Fair, is busy with plans for annual event.

VERY LIBERAL WITH THEIR PEANUTS. And "Big Frank" likes them. Margaret and Mildred Haas were well supplied with peanuts as they reached the elephant house.

NEW ARMY QUARTERMASTER. Col. Wm. H. Hart has assumed his duties.

C. P. S. MOURLON (second from left) winning the 100-meter run as French and English runners compete in London. His brother, R. Mourlon, was second.

OLIVER SENXON, Deputy Sheriff of San Diego, Calif., is a terror to moonshiners.